(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Official reports made public today revealed that British interests which are seeking control of the world's oil supply are making efforts to extend their holdings in both North and South America.
One report was that a Mexican oil concession covering two hundred miles of Pacific Coast in Lower California had been granted to Alfred MacKenzie, a British subject.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Shipping board officials announced today that sales of Pacific coast material of the board will be carried out under terms recently announced, notwithstanding protests. NORTHER KEEPS HARDING OFF THE WATER

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
POINT ISABEL, Tex., Nov. 12.—A whistling "norther" blowing across the bay kept President-elect Harding off the water today. A sharp wind made the water too rough for small boats used in tarpon fishing.

GLENDALE LOST ITS FIFTH GAME

FRANKLIN HIGH SCHOOL WINS BY SCORE OF 14 TO 0.

FIGHT TO THE END

ALL POINTS MADE IN THE LAST QUARTER OF GAME

The largest attendance present at a football game in Glendale witnessed the match between Franklin High, of Highland Park, and Glendale High. Long before the time set for the game the grandstand and sidelines were crowded. Franklin rooters were there eight hundred strong, bringing their own band. Blue and brown and black and red pom poms were very much in evidence.
One of the most exciting moments of the game was at the end of the second quarter, Glendale having the ball within two feet of making a touchdown when time was called. The playing of Creswell of Franklin High was one of the outstanding features of the game. Franklin made all its points in the last quarter.

COMING ELECTION

FIFTEEN FREEHOLDERS TO BE CHOSEN TO FORMULATE CHARTER FOR CITY

Next Tuesday, November 16th, an election of considerable importance to Glendale residents is to be held. On this occasion 15 freeholders are to be chosen to formulate a charter by which the city shall be governed. There is but one set of candidates and the names of these are as follows: A. W. Beach, Geo. H. Bentley, C. W. Ingledue, Henry Johnston, C. E. Kimlin, C. D. Lusby, R. M. McGee, Frank L. Muhleman, May E. Myton, W. R. Phelon, Jessie A. Russell, Mabel L. Tight, F. H. Vesper, Bert P. Woodard, Geo. B. Woodberry.

This election determines nothing as to the manner of the city's future government and names no officials, as some erroneously suppose. The 15 freeholders chosen have four months in which to draft a charter by the provisions of which the city will be governed, if said charter is adopted by a majority vote of the registered electors. A further delay of 60 days may be had before the matter is submitted to a vote of the people for adoption or rejection, if it is deemed necessary.

When this proposed charter is formulated, it will be printed and copies placed in all the homes of the city, in order that its provisions may be thoroughly studied and changes suggested to this committee of 15 freeholders.

Voters have the privilege of writing in the names of citizens whom they may prefer to those whose names appear on the ballot. The polling places for this election are as follows:

Consolidated Election Precinct No. 1, Comprising County Precincts Nos. 1, 2 and 10. Voting place: No. 611 North Central avenue. (Garage).

Consolidated Election Precinct No. 2, Comprising County Precincts Nos. 4, 5 and 7. Voting place: No. 115 West Harvard street. (Garage).

Consolidated Election Precinct No. 3, Comprising County Precincts Nos. 6, 13 and 14. Voting place: No. 300 South Brand boulevard. (Garage).

Consolidated Election Precinct No. 4, Comprising County Precincts Nos. 15 and 22. Voting place: No. 1321 East Colorado street. (Garage).

Consolidated Election Precinct No. 5, Comprising County Precincts Nos. 3, 8 and 9. Voting place: North side of Wilson avenue, east of Orange street.

Consolidated Election Precinct No. 6, Comprising County Precincts Nos. 11, 12 and 21. Voting place: No. 801 East Wilson avenue.

Consolidated Election Precinct No. 7, Comprising County Precincts Nos. 16, 17 and 18. Voting place: No. 1006 South Brand boulevard.

Consolidated Election Precinct No. 8, Comprising County Precincts Nos. 19 and 20. Voting place: City Hall Building, Brand boulevard and Los Feliz, Second Floor.

ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVED HERE

PATRIOTIC ORDERS, FRATERNAL ORGANIZATIONS, SCHOOLS, ETC., IN PAGEANT

ALL AS PLANNED

PARADE IMPRESSIVE, DECORATIONS BEAUTIFUL, EXERCISES APPROPRIATE

Most impressive was the parade in honor of Armistice day yesterday forenoon. Everything went off as planned and those who had the arrangements in charge should be congratulated for the thoroughness of preparation and the beauty of the costumes shown. Promptly at the appointed time the parade began to move north on Brand, led by the marshal of the day, Capt. Dru Nicoles, with his aides, in a handsomely decorated auto. The city trustees came next, followed by the police force headed by Traffic Officer Trautwein carrying a large flag. The American Legion band was next, followed by the soldiers and sailors of the post, most of them in uniform, a flag at the head of the delegation. Then came the Elks' Patrol in their handsome uniforms, officers of Elks' lodge 1289 in machines, disabled soldier boys from Thornycroft, the fire chief's car and the three engines, all draped in the national colors; then delegations from the G. A. R., W. R. C., Daughters of Veterans, Sons of Veterans, Red Cross, Glendale Library, Tuesday Afternoon Club, Thursday Afternoon club, ladies of First Methodist Episcopal church, P. E. O. chapters, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, high school, intermediate, grammar schools and so on. And there was Columbia represented by Miss Evelyn Williams, appropriately garbed, standing in a machine escorted by four girls on horses, Misses Jessie Gregg, Gladys Peckham, Mercedes Spong and Margaret Crawford as outriders; Uncle Sam depicted to the life by Zenas Smith, and fully twenty-five auto loads of citizens, all the machines appropriately decorated. Delightful at Home

Twenty guests braved the rain and the chilly atmosphere of last Sunday afternoon to attend the delightful informal at home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Turck, of 1013 South Glendale avenue.

A program of music and readings were pleasant features of the afternoon, and the refreshments served were punch and cake. In the evening pictures of three chateaux of France were shown.

This was one of Mrs. Turck's regular Sunday afternoon receptions, to which she graciously extends a general invitation, feeling that there is a need in Glendale for an opportunity for strangers in our midst, especially to enjoy the friendliness of an hospitable Glendale home.

Mrs. Turck is at home to all who wish to enjoy her charming hospitality every Sunday afternoon from five o'clock to ten. Next Sunday stereopticon pictures of Amboise, Cheverney and Chambord chateaux will be shown.

BUILDING OUTLOOK

PERMITS SO FAR $130,000, MANY NEW HOMES AND BUSINESS HOUSES IN SIGHT

The building outlook in Glendale is still very flattering, known to the remotest parts of the nation as the fastest growing city in the world, its builders yet have been unable to keep pace with the insistent demand for new homes. People are flocking to Glendale from all over the East, Middle West and North, and 500 homes could be rented within the next month if we had them. An average of about 100 places of residence a month, including bungalows, courts, apartment houses and garages for temporary use, have been provided, yet the cry is for more, yet more. The record for November permits to noon today is $130,000 and there are included in the buildings thus represented 41 for residence purposes and 10 or more remodeling of houses to provide more room. Many more residences and several business houses are projected and permits will be taken out for them before the end of the month. With the election over and all uncertainty ended, real estate dealers and builders report renewed activity.

SURPRISED THE JEWELL FAMILY

TWO AUTO LOADS OF MICHIGAN FRIENDS END LONG JOURNEY HERE

THEY SWELL NUMBER

OF VISITORS HERE FROM LIVINGSTON COUNTY, MICHIGAN

The Ray C. Jewell family, of 1319 East Harvard street, were much surprised last evening when two automobile loads of friends from two auto loads in Livingston county, Michigan, stopped before their door.

The party of ten included John Roberts and family, Mrs. Bert Roberts and son Birney, Mrs. Calkins and Mrs. Bullis.

The party camped along the way and report a glorious good time, even the seventeen-months-old baby standing the trip like a veteran. Excepting the baby and its mother, who are occupying the guest room of the Jewell home, they are still camping, happily free from the bane of high rents and the scarcity of houses.

They expect the arrival this evening of another Michigan party, comprising Mrs. Walter Gorton, Archie Gorton and family, and Leon Lauterbach and family.

Ray C. Jewell came here with his family the first of last July and purchased the home on Harvard street which they are now occupying. The Jewells are enthusiastic boosters for Glendale, its fine scenery, good water, pure mountain air, delightful climate and high moral tone.

This last party will make a total of thirty-two coming from Livingston county to Southern California in the last ten months. Each one who comes immediately becomes a California booster and entices others.

Yesterday's group enjoyed with the Jewell family an elaborate picnic dinner, all enjoying the affair hugely, the newcomers relating the news of acquaintances back home, and the Jewell family telling them of the joys that would be theirs in California.

The present intention of this group is to remain for the winter only, but those coming in by train today will remain permanently somewhere in the Southland, and Mr. Jewell says this auto crowd will be permanent here some time, if not now.

FIRST INSPECTION

MARY JANE GILLETTE TENT, DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS, GIVEN HIGH RATING

The first annual inspection of the Mary Jane Gillette Tent, Daughters of Veterans, was held in Hurt's hall, Tuesday evening. Each one of the thirty members present was full of enthusiasm and eager to rank high in exemplifying the work of the order. Department Inspector Susie V. Stubbfield, of Los Angeles, commended very highly the efficiency of the officers and members of this Tent, which is not yet eight months old.

Department President Fanny Collins-Medlar related some incidents of the recent National Encampment at Indianapolis. Division Secretary John A. Medlar, of the Sons of Veterans, made a short and very interesting address. Other visitors were Mrs. Nancy Deans of Helen Jean Christie Tent and Mrs. Carol Marks of Jessie Benton Fremont Tent.

The food sale for Saturday afternoon, Nov. 20th, was referred to by Mrs. Gertrude Griffin, chairman, and the members were asked to reserve that afternoon for this work.

The next meeting of the Nimble Fingers club, it was stated, will be at the home of Mrs. Pearl Moore, 1259 South Maryland avenue, Tuesday evening, Nov. 16th.

The Mary Jane Gillette Tent is one of the fastest growing organizations in Glendale, and is constantly being augmented by new members, recent arrivals in our community.

Wants to Be Listed

Geo. H. Warren has written the new city directory management as follows: "I note from the Glendale Evening News, which comes to me during my visit here, that the new directory is being made up. If not too late I want my name and my wife's to appear therein, for we are residents of Glendale. Our home is at 640 North Maryland avenue, where my daughter, Mrs. Ray Hasson, and family, are residing temporarily."

CAMPING TRIP IN COAST RANGE

FRANK ECHOLS' DESCRIPTION OF CALIFORNIA REDWOOD PARK

TELLS OF WILD LIFE

STATE LAWS PROTECT TREES AND ANIMALS IN THE FOREST

Frank M. Echols, of the firm of Roberts & Echols, Glendale druggists, is a nature-lover who would rather go a-gyping up the coast in his machine than travel in the most luxurious special de luxe train that ever whizzed along the shining rails on its way to "back East" points.

Mr. Echols spent his last vacation in the Santa Cruz mountains where the state of California has preserved 15,000 acres and named it the California Redwood park.

In this place Mr. Echols and his wife camped for two happy weeks. There nature reigns supreme, for the state protects the trees, the birds and the wild animals that make their homes there.

The great redwoods forming the groves that were God's first temples were old when civilization began. While not so numerous as the Calaveras big trees, they are nevertheless of great size, some of them ten feet in diameter. One very large one has a passage way burned through its trunk large enough to back a Ford into. One giant is called "The Father Tree," another "The Mother Tree." Another very large one is called "The Animal Tree," from the fact that an elephant, a man's head and face, and other curious figures may be traced on its bark by the beholder possessed of fertile fancy.

At the gateway to the park rules for campers are posted. Everyone is cordially welcomed and bade to have (Continued on Page 6)

Chamber of Commerce

Glendale Chamber of Commerce officers have plans in preparation for a membership campaign, to be undertaken either under the direction of the National Chamber of Commerce, or that of Mr. Stevenson, who recently addressed members of the Greater Glendale Development association on the subject of a larger membership for Glendale's Chamber of Commerce.

The News Is Read

Mrs. C. M. Turck of 1013 South Glendale avenue received just thirty-six responses to a little classified ad which she inserted in the Evening News. "It pays to advertise"—in The Evening News.

CHAPTER L, P. E. O.

STATE ORGANIZER HOLDS INSPECTION OF RITUAL WORK

Chapter L, P. E. O., met at the home of Mrs. Josephine Farnum, 316 North Louise street, Wednesday, November 10th, at 10:30 a. m. The home was beautifully decorated with dahlias and chrysanthemums. The state organizer, Mrs. Ollie P. Cramer, of Los Angeles, met with the chapter for inspection of ritual work. At 12:30 a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess, Mrs. Josephine Farnum, assisted by Mrs. Nell Maxwell, Mrs. Jessie Russell and Mrs. Charlotte Goss.

The program which followed was in charge of Mrs. Harriet Randall. Miss Isabel Isgrig gave a talk on "Loyalty and Friendship." Mrs. Margaret Campbell spoke on why she accepted membership in the P. E. O., and the benefits derived therefrom. The talks were beneficial and were enjoyed by all. During the program a quartette composed of Miss Isabel Isgrig, Miss Margaret Lusby, Mrs. Nell Maxwell and Mrs. Genevieve Goss sang "Greetings," by Mendelssohn, and "Her Rose," by Combs. Miss Isabel Isgrig sang two solos, "Snowflakes Ariette" and "Songs of a Shepherd Leal," composed by Korfakow. Mrs. Harriet Randall furnished piano accompaniments. The program was especially good and was very much appreciated by the listeners. Short talks were then given by the visitors, State Organizer Mrs. Ollie P. Cramer and Past State President Mrs. Marion Garvin, of Los Angeles.

HEALD-REASER MAIL ORDERS FOR SEATS

ELLSWORTH HEALD, EX-SERVICE MAN, AND MISS DORRIS REASER WEDDED

GIVES PEOPLE OUTSIDE OF CITY EQUAL CHANCE WITH PASADENANS

AT FOOTBALL GAME

TO BE A GREAT AFTERNOON FEATURE OF TOURNAMENT OF ROSES

Residents of Southern California desiring seats for the coming "East vs. West" football game to be played in Pasadena January 1, 1921, under the auspices of the Tournament of Roses Association, may reserve them by mail.

This plan, result of careful study and much correspondence with all sections of the country on the part of George H. Frost, who is in charge of the sale of tickets, will avoid confusion, mistakes and disappointments, especially among interested persons outside of Pasadena.

For the past twenty-five years, the Tournament of Roses has been supported by memberships in an association comprising the public-spirited residents of Pasadena and other Southern California towns. These memberships cost $5 each. About ten years ago the association adopted the plan of allowing with each membership three dollars' worth of tickets to the New Year's afternoon program of sports at Tournament Park. Another privilege granted to members is the advantage of a three days' advance sale of tickets.

This year the advance sale will be by mail, thus giving members of the association not living in Pasadena an equal chance with Pasadena members. The number of tickets that can be bought with each membership is limited to four. Association members will be informed in advance of the first date of the sale of tickets; those who desire them may mail an order specifying reservations desired and enclosing with the official receipt for their membership (worth $3) an amount sufficient to cover the entire order.

A special effort is being made to induce public-spirited Californians outside of Pasadena to become members of the association and share in its benefits.

Public Health Nurse

You know her—the nurse. You may have seen her in the long, cool corridors of some hospital. You may have been dimly conscious of her as she moved around the room where you lay sick. You might remember her as the quiet, efficient person in a military hospital.

In any case, you know immediately, when you see that capped and aproned figure, that the work of healing is being carried on in the devoted, capable manner which the nursing profession has succeeded in associating ineradicably with itself.

Entertained at Luncheon

Mrs. Frances Burchfield and Miss Margaret Burchfield entertained at a prettily-appointed luncheon yesterday, at their home, 642 North Kenwood street.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Mary Wautler, of Wabash, Indiana, Mrs. Delight Lawshe, of Monrovia, and Mrs. Harry Evans and Baby Marie, also of Monrovia.

On a Judge

Our friend the judge here, has a sense of humor. I am sure of that.
I was in his office the other day,
when a young woman came, slowly
in, looked around and asked:
"Is the professor in?"
"What professor?" asked the judge.
"The professor of music, of course," answered the girl. "I've come to have my voice tried."
"Well, you'd better not have it tried here, ma'am. This is a court of justice!"

On Bald-Headed Man

Every day I grow more sensitive about the loss of my hair. The other day I was in a great hurry and I wanted to have my hair trimmed a little. As I climbed into the barber's chair, I said:
"I'm in a big hurry, brother. Can you cut my hair if I leave my collar on?"
"Sure," replied the barber, as he glanced at my shiny dome. "I could even cut your hair with your hat on."

Corn prices at the farms of producers have been highest in the Rock Mountain and Pacific States, in averages of periods of years, from 1866-1875 to 1896-1905, after which the highest place has been held by the South Atlantic farmers.

ing from 719 Raleigh to the place

ed on North Louise.

fine home, L. W. Greenmayer having taken out a permit for a 5-room house at 1249, to cost $3500.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Griggs of Alhambra, former residents of Glen-

California avenue leaves Sunday for the East to join her husband, who is on a lecturing tour with the chautauqua.

yesterday that some one entered his office at the Mission Supply Station, Colorado and Central avenue, the night before and stole $50.

Mmanuel Glass and family and Lucca Ferrioli and family have moved into one side of the double house now approaching completion at 1115 East Wilson Ave.

George Ogle, of Springfield, Ohio,
is the house guest of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. Blumenthal, of 723 North Central avenue. Mr. Ogle will probably make Glendale his permanent home.

Mrs. H. M. Lock of 224 South Louise street received a message Wednesday from Kingman county, Kansas, conveying the sad news of the death of her only sister, Mrs. Sarah F. Yeager.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank N. Arnold of 211 East Lomita avenue have returned from a trip to Imperial Valley,
where they spent several days visiting Mrs. Arnold's brothers, P. J. Rogers and C. B. Rogers, of El Centro.

Mrs. Charles H. Toll of 1635 Kenneth Road is entertaining a number of Glendale ladies at a card party
this afternoon at the Ebell club house on South Figueroa street, Los Angeles.

In avoiding a collision with a lumber truck this morning the driver of a passenger auto ran his car up onto the curb at Brand Boulevard and San Fernando Road. The machine was badly damaged, but the several occupants received no harm
beyond a bad scare.

Word has been received that the body of Lieut. Lester L. Meyer, son of A. Meyer of 208 East Chestnut St., will be shipped from New York City on the 14th inst. and should arrive in Glendale the following Friday. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Robert Freeman and Frank Johnson, of the Chaffee grocery, have been in attendance at a school of memory in Los Angeles, the visualizing system, and they are getting quite expert in remembering things.
Their favorite refrain now is "Lest
we forget, lest we forget."

Mrs. Cleo Ridgely Horne, wife of the well-known motion picture director "Jimmy" Horne, in a kindly spirit of helpfulness will dress and donate a doll for the Tuesday Afternoon Club bazaar, which is to be held here in December. Mr. and Mrs.
Horne, who reside on Valley View Road, are the proud parents of lovely twin children, Jimmy and June.

A fire occurred shortly after noon
yesterday at 1326 East Broadway, where W. H. Norton, lessee of the property, was melting honey in a shed. About five hundred dollars' worth of honey was destroyed. If it had not been for the prompt action of the fire department the flames would have spread to the house, which was quite close by.

New houses almost ready for occupancy are the following: Mrs. R.
C. Horner, 240 North Belmont; M.
Pahlman, 811 East Palmer Ave.; E.
H. Laffer, 453 West California Ave.;
L. E. Kellogg, 520 West Elk Ave.;
F. B. Burson, 432 Salem; L. E. Bennett, 703 East Lomita Ave.; Mrs. A.
W. Gobelet, Hermosita Drive; J. Witkowski, 122 North Central Ave.

Glenn D. Simmons, who had to tear down his little brick real estate office twice in the past year to make room for new business buildings has concluded to stand against such contingencies in the future, so has bought a lot at 212 South Brand
next to Mattison B. Jones' residence and has commenced the erection of a 25x30 two-room brick building.

Armistice Day was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E.
Daniels, 142 North Central avenue, with a dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. G. Phillips. Cards were placed for Victor W. Daniels, Miss Eva Daniels, Elmer Olson, Harold W. Phillips, Roba Phillips, Helen Daniels,
the honorees and host and hostess.
In the evening music and games were enjoyed.

Friends of C. Hulbert Toll, who is attending the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Boston, will be interested to know that in the Sophomore-Freshman field day recently held, the Sophomore team of which he is a member, carried off all the events.

B. G. Sutherland, San Fernando Valley representative of the Gardner motor car, is confined to his home today by a cold. Mr. Sutherland is an exceptionally fine young man and we are all glad to know that his illness is not serious and that he will probably be able to be at his business headquarters on North Brand boulevard tomorrow.

Martin Abarta and wife have a new baby, an 8-pound girl, born
Thursday, Nov. 11, 1920. Mrs.
Abarta was Miss Mona Butler before her marriage. Both she and her husband are old residents of Glendale. They are now living on the slopes of Mt. Baldy, where Mr. Abarta is working for the Edison Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mason of 206½
East Chestnut street have been entertaining a number of Eastern visitors recently. Among them were
Mr. and Mrs. George Strahan, Mrs.
J. Ross, Robert Taylor, George Martine, T. Snyder and J. Buchanan, all of Yonkers, N. Y. These people expect to make Glendale their home
providing they can get suitable locations.

The Auction Bridge club was entertained by Mrs. Sallie Campbell
Braden at the home of her sister, Mrs. Fitzgerald, whose home is at Western avenue and Adams street,
Los Angeles, Monday afternoon.
Those present from Glendale were Mesdames A. L. Baird, A. W. Beach,
John Gardner, Roy Hinchcliffe, C.
O. Pulliam, J. H. Smith, D. H. Smith,
William Truitt and H. L. Whaley.
Mrs. A. L. Dawson of Pasadena was also one of the guests.

Mrs. Sadie Thomas of 338 West
California avenue entertained a few of her friends at a cafeteria dinner
last evening. The program of music and games was enjoyed by all. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. D. D.
Haines and daughter Amy, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Haines and son Wallace,
Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Keim, Mr. and Mrs. Glassey and daughter Zora, Mr.
and Mrs. J. P. King and daughter Genevieve, and their guest, Mrs. Mary Hill of Burr Oak, Ind.; Miss Doris Ingledue, Mr. Scribner and Ellis
Thomas.

Mrs. E. D. Wolbach of 373 Myrtle
St. entertained a number of her friends yesterday afternoon. Those present were Mesdames Dan Bruce, Estella Brain, Kate Fenstermaker,
W. M. Van Osdel, Merle Burke,
Floyd Gardner, R. E. Goode, C. U.
Wells and the hostess. These ladies have formed a little social club and meet once a week at the home of one of the members. The afternoon was spent in sewing, during which refreshments consisting of hot chocolate and cake, were served. The home was decorated with chrysanthemums.

J. E. Peters is having some interesting experiences as a builder of fine homes. He has four under construction at present and all were sold in advance. One is in the Atwater tract and the man he is building for supposed that was a part of Glendale when he bought his lot. It was not until after the house was fairly started that he discovered he was in Los Angeles. He was much disappointed, for he wanted to live in Glendale, and he may yet sell this place and have a home built in the city of his choice. Permits cost more in Los Angeles, Mr. Peters says, the minimum being $5. Electric wiring is more costly, also, because of the conduit system, and there are other provisions of the building laws which add to the expense.

E. W. Simmons, wife and daughter of Medford, Oregon, are here to spend the winter with the son and brother, Glenn D. Simmons, and wife, of 311 West Harvard. The elder Mr. Simmons says he likes Glendale more every time he visits it, but he cannot consent to make it his home as long as Verdugo Wash and the Los Angeles river fail to provide him with steelhead salmon such as he can catch in large quantities in Medford, which is on the banks of the Rogue river. He showed the Evening News reporter kodak pictures of an ordinary catch of these delicious fish which take to a fly most eagerly, then fight as gamely as a trout. They weigh up to 16 pounds and occasionally larger, and are of delicious flavor, Mr. Simmons says. Medford is in the great Rogue river valley apple section, so it has many charms to hold residents.

Spruce is used in the manufacture of airplanes because of its great strength in comparison with its weight, its uniform texture and its freedom from defects.

ARMISTICE DAY

WHAT ITS CELEBRATION MEANT TO GLENDAL E
RESIDENTS

It emphasized in the minds of our children the great debt we owe to our heroes, dead and alive.

It was a tangible expression of our appreciation of the great sacrifice our boys made for the safety of our country.

It proved our "pull together"
spirit.

It cemented a little more closely
our spirit of concerted community action.

It expressed our gratitude for the great blessing of peace, and our willingness to forget past sorrows and mistortunes.

Filled With Hate

It was odd to discover that the Poles were not fighting the bolsheviki. Doubtless a great many people had known that all along; but it was a new fact to me. I had supposed they were. They are fighting the Russians.

Just outside of Kiev I walked for two hours along the railroad track with a Pole 19 years old on his way to a sugar factory. He could understand my French and I could understand his. Finally I said what had been in my mind. "The thing that surprises me, my friend, is that you people here and in Warsaw and all along the line down here do not speak of the bolshevik with the same moral exasperation and horror that I am used to among my friends in Paris and in New York."

He turned my remark over in his mind. Then he said: "I detest them with all my heart. Why shouldn't I?
They have taken everything away
that my family had, except this sugar factory. I know my father died because of the worries over our altered state of affairs. But a bol-shevist is only a Russian and a peasant. What can you expect of that combination? You can't specialize in hatred of Russians."

A lady I walked with one afternoon in Kiev unwittingly illustrated his remark. Her husband had been carried away by the bolshevik as one of the hostages, when they withdrew from Kiev five days before. She had lived through seven months of bolshevik control there. She described their outrageous intrusions
into homes, their constant demands,
their thieving. But she added,
"Denikin's men were as bad when they were here, just before the bolsheviki. The Russians!"

Old czaristic days, bolshevik and anti-bolshevik armies and populations, the medley, the composite, is straight Russian in the Polish mind.
I saw a poster in oils, "The Storm Out of the East," done by a Polish army officer; a great hulking figure, with dripping hands and a Mongolian face, coming up out of fire over a peaceful Polish landscape low on the horizon. I bought it for more than I could afford, because I felt that it was a picture good for more than my generation; good for a time when the bolshevism of our day has long been a historic reminiscence; good for so long as there is dread of Russianism and Mongolism in Poland.

Pluck Wins

Pluck wins! It always wins!
Though days be slow
And nights be dark 'twixt days that come and go,
Still pluck will win; its average is sure;
He gains the prize who will the most endure;
Who faces issues; he who never
shirks;
Who waits and watches, and who always works. —Shakespeare

Detecting Is Easy

A woman who had read "Sherlock Holmes" applied to Conan Doyle for help in a matter that puzzled her.
"My detective powers are quite at your service, madam," said the author good-naturedly. "What is the trouble?"
"Frequent and mysterious thefts
have been occurring on our premises for a long time. There disappeared
last week a motorhorn, a box of golf balls, a left riding boot, a dictionary
and a half dozen tin plates."

"The case is perfectly clear," said
Sir Arthur. "You keep a goat?"

On a Lawyer

Brother Blank here remarks that "clothes do not make the man." I do not like to dispute the brother,
but, as an attorney, I'm here to admit that suits are what make men in our profession.

"YOU NEVER CAN TELL"

From the Saturday Evening Post story of the same name

In the fashionable hotel where Rowena worked as a check-room girl, she saw people pay fifty dollars for one little dinner party. All about her was luxury, and she was sick and tired of being poor and shabby. So she decided to get into the game herself. Borrowed finery, stolen pleasures, innocent pretense, serious fibbing—
soon she had herself involved in all sorts of an embarassing situation. All might not have ended well had not her Prince Charming happened along at the critical moment. Don't let anything short of a cyclone prevent you from seeing vivacious Bebe Daniels romp through "You Never Can Tell."

Mysteries of Plants
The bureau of plant industry, United States department of agriculture, is looking ahead to the time when our fields will have to fill a billion human stomachs—the time when the vagaries of the palate will reach food realms now strange, a time when our factories will demand raw products now undreamed of as factors in industry.
The bureau's job is a big one. It aims to conserve and improve the plant life already here, import and domesticate all foreign or wild plant life that we need or can utilize, and to create new forms of plant life wherever practicable. It is thus the physician-in-chief to all things that grow from roots. Together with allied bureaus, it is the policeman that guards our plant life.
A squad from its forces is now driving the citrus canker into the Gulf of Mexico and thus probably saving the citrus fruit industry of the southeast from ruin. Another is wrestling with the takeall and the flag-smuth recently sneaked in from Australia to prey on corn crops in the middle west.
Similar investigations and experiments of plant life are being made by these forces in all parts of the world.—Riverside Press.

The fourth annual Red Cross roll call begins today and will end on Thanksgiving day. In that period the public will be asked to renew membership in the organization, which in its peace time functions, no less than its service during the war, is entitled to the sympathetic and generous support of all.

The labors of the Red Cross in promoting the health of the community, in instant response in case of disaster, continued care of the disabled members of our overseas forces and their families, and many other activities are well known. The annual roll call offers opportunity to everyone to enlist in these great works of mercy and assistance to worthy causes. The gratitude so freely and tangibly expressed in popular support during the war should not be forgotten.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

Beneath the ruins of a temple in Egypt scientists have discovered a subterranean necropolis containing thousands of mummified bodies of the sacred Ibis, each neatly packed in crumpled papyrus (ancient Egyptian manuscripts) which, say investigators, appear to consist of everything from love letters to washing bills.

A sneeze means a great impending calamity to the Hindu mind. Whatever happens on the day that one hears a sneeze is sure to turn out ill, they say, and the Indian will enter upon no undertaking of importance on such a day.

George Washington made chaplains a part of the American army. He issued a call for ministers to join the colors about the same time that he wrote his famous order against profanity in the Revolutionary army.

An architect has completed designs for a proposed landing field for airplanes, to be built over the roof of two of New York's largest hotels.

The Bureau of Chemistry of the Department of Agriculture is experimenting with the manufacture of motor fuel from dried leaves.

A second cable from the mainland to Vancouver Island is to be laid immediately at a cost of $350,000.

Rate Increases

Frank H. Fayant, assistant to the chairman, Association of Railway Executives, states that if the cost of living is raised more than 2 per cent by the $1,200,000,000 increase in freight charges, it will be plain evidence that middlemen and retailers are taking an unfair advantage of the public. We have passed the peak of war inflation. It is reasonable to believe, therefore, that prices will fall rather than rise after the new rates are in effect.
The fact is that in the production of most articles of common daily consumption, the transport charge is so small that an increase in rates has no appreciable effect in the family budget. In bulky articles like coal or lumber, where transportation is a very large part of the process of production and distribution, an increase in freight rates necessarily means higher prices. But even these comparatively large increases in particular commodities may be absorbed as a result of other forces working for lower prices.

The public will pay $1,500,000,000 of additional freight and passenger revenue. The recent wage award in Chicago gave to the railroad employees an additional $625,000,000 a year or an average of more than $200 each. During the two years of government operation of railroads, the railroad administration raised wages by more than one billion a year. The total increase in wages, therefore, since May, 1918, when the Lane wage board made its first award, is more than $1,600,000,000 a year.—San Bernardino Sun.

The government is running down thieves who appropriated $500,000 worth of platinum from army ordnance stores during the war. The precious metal was stripped from delicate timing, sighting and firing instruments. A woman has been arrested.

UNCLE SAM AS A COLONIZER

The tropic races do not produce powerful intellects. That fact explains why peoples of the tropics are essentially subjects of other nations.

Take the natives of our most distant colonial possessions, for instance. We speak of them as Filipinos and by the very use of that term fall into error. Believing them to be one people, we erroneously assume that there is a national feeling in the islands. Nothing is further from the truth. Only among the politicians of Manila and Washington is there any talk of independence.

Any American who seeks the facts is at once struck by the total lack of national impulse among the natives. There is no national language or literature, no common religion or history. Civilization has not penetrated much beyond old tribal instincts. In the island of Luzon alone, there are fifteen different dialects spoken in the lowlands and twenty others in the highlands.

Transportation facilities among the islands are pretty much the same as they were a thousand years ago. In Samar few natives know whether Washington is the name of a drink or a new-fangled spearhead. On the island of Palawan the natives have a dislike for visits from fellow beings from any of the neighboring five thousand islands, and, until the United States intervened, kept a fairly complete social list, in the form of skulls of all who visited their shores.

These are the people and conditions among which the politicians would set up the free and independent government of the Philippines.

With no background of experience in colonial government we have taken hold of the islands and in twenty years attempted to graft the world's most virile civilization on the weakest of stocks. Under the most favorable climatic conditions it took our civilization some three thousand years to reach its present stage. To expect a race that is palsied by the enervation of the tropics to reach a state of orderly government by and for the people in the short space of a quarter of a century is absurd.

The United States has made no great success as a colonizer, because it has not learned to divorce the administration of its possessions from partisan politics. Only where officials have studied the methods of the great colonizing peoples with centuries of mistakes and accomplishments behind them, has there been any real advancement. This study and its practical application are the real remedy now needed in the Philippines, but it must be extended farther than to schools, sanitation, roadways and the like. It must permeate the very administration of government.

The minds of politicians who think in terms of official position and who spend half of their time in creating commissions or jobs for deserving friends, should be supplanted by minds that consider the native, and have studied and are actually interested in the working out of colonial government.

In short, good colonies are not made by sending a "deserving" politician out to an island to occupy the governor's mansion for four years. There must be study and work.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

A cataclysm shook the earth and the beautiful mountains came into being. Wars tear at the vitals of society, but out of their fires come the fine gold of humanity.

Two distant stars came together and the measureless stretches of space blazed up with millions of flaming meteors. Then a new star shot out of the seething furnace and sent its light down through the ether and into the waiting lenses of our telescopes.

There are millions of stars in the heavens that we know of. There are 100,000 that we have classified and catalogued. The modern telescope has penetrated into the distances and traversed the fiery orbs that outshine our sun. They have found Betelgeuse, 500 times greater in light power than the sun and some 169 light-years away. They have drawn aside the veil of secrecy that has guarded Canopus, twenty million times farther away than our sun, and they have separated the binary stars, millions of miles apart, but appearing to the naked eye as one.

Still, far out on the edge of the universe, there are fringes of stars whose light had started on the long journey to earth when Adam was in Eden, but which, though it travels over 186,000 miles a second, has not yet reached here. These are strangers to our telescopes.

The human mind is unable to grasp these immense proportions because they are beyond our conception; but they give us something to think about.—San Bernardino Index.

CONTROLLING ELEMENT IN AMERICAN LIFE

What are Americans? Primarily they are a mighty company of nearly fifty-five million men, women and children of British ancestry, including the descendants in the second or later generations of Irish, German and other immigrants who came to America sixty years ago or earlier and including also later Anglo-Saxon arrivals and their children, welded into one vast and surprisingly homogeneous element.

This element is the pillar which supports the republic. It is the elements which manage and control the United States. Even in places where it is in a minority, it generally leads.

The activities of the nation, infinite in variety and extent, both intellectual and material, are principally in the hands of persons of the native and allied stock. The farmers are largely native, as are lawyers, clergymen, physicians, school teachers, bankers, manufacturers and managers.

The American native stock, with its assimilated early additions, is the greatest Anglo-Saxon element in the world. In numbers it is greater than the entire combined population of England, Scotland, Wales and Canada.

Perhaps some day affairs will be so quieted that it will be possible to get wildly excited about a world's heavyweight championship prize fight.

Scientists are devoting their time to studying what the women of tomorrow will be like, as if they already understand the woman of today.

"I am trying to find my brother," said the Englishman timidly to the fierce looking person with a sheath knife on one side of his belt and a six-shooter on the other. "He was in this neighborhood about four years ago. His name was Dobbinston." "Dobbinston—kind of goody, goody chap?" "Yes, that's the man." "Guess I know him. He committed suicide three years ago." "What! My brother committed suicide? Was he ill or in trouble or what?" "He called me a liar, stranger."—Houston Post.

Wealth of Presidents

Newspaper gossip concerning the personal fortunes of the leading candidates for the presidency brings out interesting facts relating to the financial conditions of incumbents of the presidential office in the past. Newspaper correspondents who have made it their business to ascertain the facts suggest that Governor Cox is worth approximately $1,000,000 in cash and property. Senator Harding is credited with something like $200,000. These figures average, up very well with the personal fortunes of incumbents of the presidential office in the past, though Governor Cox shows a more substantial aggregation of wealth than any man who ever held the presidential office.

Washington is credited with having been the wealthiest president, with a fortune of about $800,000. Theodore Roosevelt came next in point of this world's goods with $600,000. James Buchanan was a bachelor with about $400,000 of savings, while President and Mrs. Wilson are credited with the same sum. Grover Cleveland, unmarried, was worth $600,000, but after his marriage to Frances Folsom their joint estate totaled $300,000. Zachary Taylor had an estimated estate of $300,000; Van Buren, $200,000, and Rutherford B. Hayes $250,000. Benjamin Harrison had a matter of $200,000. These were the wealthiest presidents. There were some who were very indifferently provided with assets.

Thomas Jefferson is said to have been without fortune; William H. Harrison had no estate; Andrew Johnson was in the same situation; President Grant had small means when he went to the White House, and at one time he was insolvent; James A. Garfield had no estate; Chester A. Arthur was similarly situated, and President McKinley was

So, on the whole, the United States has not been in the habit of selecting captains of finance for chief executives, though a president of that type would have been useful in many critical situations of the nation provided he was otherwise fitted for the office. Personal wealth has been very properly considered as having no bearing upon a candidate's fitness for the high office.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Orderly Procedure Pays

In Alabama forty "night riders" have been arrested. Apprehending them in the act does not mean that any severe punishment will be visited upon them, but it does mean that law is still operative to some extent in that section. It is stated that most of those taken into custody are young men who own their own farms. It is easily understood that they should wish to get a remunerative price for their farm products. That is businesslike and praiseworthy, but the practice they have evoked in the mistaken idea of its effectiveness goes much farther than its application to this year's price of cotton.

Anarchy does not pay no matter what the provocation. People looking for homes and places for investment do not go as a rule where conditions are unsettled. And there is where those who resort to lawlessness, even though it is done to correct an evil, injure themselves. A temporary profit may be gained, only to be lost many times over. Orderly procedure pays best.

ed. Of course the veterans of the late war were the main attraction, as this pageant was in honor of the peace they and their comrades had done so much to bring about, but the school children were the delight of all eyes, also. The high school girls with their middie suits and pom poms, the intermediate children with red, white and blue caps and stars to match, arranged to form a living flag, the smaller children with suits and caps, ties and bandeaux in harmonious colors, were most pleasing to all. One school, the Magnolia avenue, was missing, on account of a misunderstanding. When it was given out that no autos carrying school children were expected in the parade, the teacher at Magnolia, where the children are all of the first and second years, thought it was meant that they were considered too small to appear on such an occasion, so no preparations were made to enter them, though they could have marched as well as the others had it been known this would be allowed.

One modest float that attracted considerable attention, yet was not understood, was the beautifully decorated auto in which were seated the four "gold star" mothers of Glendale. A gold star suspended from the center of an arch was the distinguishing mark.

The line of march was up Brand to Broadway, thence east to Jackson, west to Brand, north to Wilson, back on the other side of the street to Broadway, where, in the space between Brand and Orange, the band played many beautiful selections, occupying the time until 11 o'clock, when the solitary gun was fired in commemoration of the shot that announced the close of the war two years ago. Then all sang "The Star Spangled Banner," after which O. E. Von Oven led in a most spirited "community sing," after which all dispersed to their homes.

This observance of a day that will be memorable in history for all time to come was perfect in every detail, it seemed to the onlookers, and those who had the planning and the preparing were given unstinted praise.

CAMPING TRIP

a good time, but admonished not to carve names on trees, or build fires any place but in the stoves provided, or bring any cats or dogs to scare the wild life of the beautiful park or to do anything else to injure this beautiful playground of the people.

Bright-eyed squirrels go unafraid and confident about their business, birds sing gaily in the trees, and even the shy deer come forth from their haunts to gaze with curiosity upon the queer men-creatures who live in tents and must needs burn things over a fire before they consider them fit to eat. As many as ten deer have been seen at once, within thirty feet of their fellow-creature, man.

When a tree of this species of redwood is cut down, from its roots there spring new shoots in a circle all about the old root. These trees grow nowhere else but on the coast range and are from 200 to 300 feet tall. Their foliage is cypresslike and they bear numerous small, oblong cones. The wood is a brownish red and it takes on a fine polish.

Mr. Echols was told by one of the wardens that there were 12,000 campers registered in the park last Fourth of July, not counting the transients who came for the day only. This indicates the appreciation of this great playground by the people.

Not only did Mr. and Mrs. Echols bring back many precious memory pictures to "flash upon that inward eye that is the bliss of solitude," but many good kodak pictures also which their friends have enjoyed with them since their return from their two weeks of motoring, hiking and fishing.

Guernsey will preside and Col. Frank H. True will be one of the speakers.

All New Yorkers will be welcomed and the tourists will be made to feel at home.

WAGE AWARD

FOR MORE THAN 100,000 MEN ON SHORT LINE RAILROADS, TO BE ANNOUNCED SOON

(By United Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 13. — Wage awards which will affect more than a hundred thousand men employed on close to 600 short line railroads throughout the country will be announced within the next few weeks, according to United States railroad labor board officials here today.
The wages sought are similar to those asked by the Big Four Brotherhood and employes on big roads. These employes, numbering 2,000,000, were recently awarded approximately 60 per cent of their demands.
Though there are 600 short line railroads in the country, employes on only ninety-seven have asked the board to apply the recent award to them. Originally 115 made application to the board, but officials of eighteen of these have voluntarily applied the award and the applications withdrawn. In addition to these eighteen, thirty-five other roads have applied the recent award, making a total of fifty-three roads voluntarily applying the award.
The decision in the case now being studied by the board will be of tremendous importance to employes on other short line roads. What action is taken in this case is believed almost certain to be applied to all of them. It is considered most probable that the board will cover all short line roads in its decision.
The short line road employes are backed in their demands by officials of the brotherhoods and the American Federation of Labor. Practically all of them are members of the brotherhood or of the department of railway employes of the American Federation of Labor. Their request was not included in the earlier demands, because short line roads were operated under private control. It was only employes on roads that were formerly under federal control that asked for a raise. The latter originally made their demands when the government operated the roads and by the time they obtained the action sought, the roads were back in private hands.
The same union officials who pushed the demands of the 2,000,000 railroad employes earlier in the year handled the presentation of the short line road employes case. President Timothy O'Shea, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, President L. E. Sheppard of the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors, and B. M. Jewell, president of the railroad shopmen's union, were chief counsel for the short line road employes.
Demands sought by the short line workers, if granted, would mean an approximate annual pay increase in 100,000 pay envelopes of $50,000,000, it is estimated.

FRANCE CELEBRATES

By HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
4 Septembre, 1870, Proclamation de la Republique.
11 Novembre, 1918, Restitution de l'Alsace-Lorraine a la France.
PARIS, Nov. 11.—All France is today celebrating jointly the fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the armistice that ended the late war.
In commemoration of the joint celebration, the above inscription uniting the two dates has just been permanently inscribed on the Arch of Triumph at the Etoile.
In order to give special significance, however, it was decided not to chisel the dates on the monument itself along with the hundreds of thousands of others, but to engrave it in the flagstones directly underneath the center of the great arch.
While the fiftieth anniversary of the proclamation of the French republic occurred on September 4, the celebration of it was postponed until today. The one celebration marks the birth of the republic; the other its salvation.
By far the most striking feature of today's celebration is the removal to and final interment at the Pantheon of the heart of Gambetta, the founder of the third republic.
The heart of Gambetta was taken from his tomb this week at the Villa of Los Jards at Ville d'Avray and placed in a box of wood, made from the pines of the Vosges, which Gambetta loved so well. Last night the sacred relic, placed on an artillery carriage and escorted by military contingents was brought to Paris and rested for the night, surrounded by troops and guards under the center of the Arch of Triumph and just over the inscription given above, engraved in the flagstones.
Then, today, for the final escorting of this relic to the Pantheon, Paris witnessed one of the most remarkable processions under the Arch of Triumph that it has ever seen.
First of all there passed under the Arch the battle flags of the entire French army as it exists today—active, reserve, colonial, as well as all battleflags taken from the French in past wars but later returned by their former victors.
Scores of the flags that passed under the Arch of Triumph today were brought especially for the occasion from thousands and thousands of miles of distance.
Each flag-bearer was escorted by two soldiers from the regiment to which the flag belonged.
In addition, there also participated in the procession the survivors of the war of 1870 and the mutilated of the present war.
This procession after passing under the Arch of Triumph continued its way along streets lined on both sides with troops holding their bayoneted rifles at attention, until the square in front of the Pantheon was reached.
At the Pantheon both a musical and literary ceremony marked the final interment of Gambetta's heart in the great monument where lie the remains of the greatest men of France.
During the afternoon still another ceremony was held at the Hotel de Ville for the reception of the delegations from Alsace-Lorraine, as well as the mayors of all the French cities and villages.
This evening four great military processions will leave the Hotel de Ville, marching out in four different directions, one to Place de la Concorde, one to Place de la Republique, one to the Lion de Belfort and one to Place de la Nation.

It's One Draw Back

A Scotchman came south to have a look at London. He spent a few days in London, and sped back to Scotland again.
On the first night of his return to his little village up in the wilds all his friends gathered round him to hear his opinion of the town whose streets were "paved with gold."
He told the tales as only a Scotchman—short and candid, without too much padding; then a friend interrupted him.
"Hoo long wur ye in Lunnon a' the gither, Jock?"
"About a week," replied the traveled man.
"What'd ye think o' the town?"
"Hoots, mon, it wur all richt in its way! Lunnon's a fine we town in itself! but it is such a long wa' fra anywhere!"—From Answers, London.

The Future in Europe

It is generally recognized that the restoration of business to a normal basis in Europe must have a profound effect upon America. Germany, in particular, has immense factory facilities and idle workmen, lacking only credit and new material. It has been proposed to trade labor for raw material. With the German mark at 1½ cents on exchange, skilled labor is willing to work for 75 cents a day in American money. Should this proposal be put into operation, a serious complication would at once confront American trade, as we could not compete against 75-cent labor with $7.50 labor. The remedy must be found in raising the purchasing power of gold in America and lowering it in Europe, until a level of equality shall have approximately been reached.

Aircraft Conditions

Several American commissions have recently made an investigation into the aircraft conditions in different parts of the world, and they agree that this country has the opportunity to lead the world in civilian aeronautical activities and as a market for aircraft in 1920. It was the joint opinion of these commissions that the United States is ahead of all other countries in number of planes actually ordered and bought for civilian purposes, number of aerial transportation lines being organized, actual daily performance of the aerial mail service, and volume of mail carried, and possibilities for the use of aircraft for commercial purposes, and that the fact that the post office has proved that military planes can be converted into mail carriers makes possible the utilization of service planes to meet the immediate demands which manufacturers are unable to meet.

BILLIE SEES POINT

(Written for the Evening News)

Twelve-year-old Billie goes to school somewhere—maybe in Glendale, maybe in Los Angeles—never mind where, for it really doesn't matter so far as this story is concerned. "I hate grammar!" Billie exclaimed angrily the other evening. "There ain't no sense in it!" "There ain't no sense in it!" mimicked Jessie, his sister, a High school sophomore; "really, it's disgraceful the language you use. You certainly need to study grammar, Bill Brown." "Is that so?" jeered Bill; "well, you ain't so awful smart yourself, Miss Smarty!" But Jessie had found her dictionary and had hastily withdrawn to her own room, closing the door behind her. "Huh!" grunted her small brother, "just becuz—" He stopped short. For he had caught the eye of Uncle Will, who was sitting at the other side of the library table, and had looked up from his book, disturbed by the controversy.
Billie loved Uncle Will dearly. He was kind and he was fair, and he always understood a fellow. His voice was clear and musical and the way he talked somehow made a fellow feel dignified and manly, not small and cross, like Jessie's talk. He knew "a lot," Uncle Will did; yet he never used words a fellow couldn't understand, and he always paused between sentences and between paragraphs so a fellow had a chance to "get the hang" of what he meant. He was very unlike most grown-ups, Billie found. He never said, "Never mind why, just do it because I tell you to." No, Uncle Will always seemed to suppose a fellow had a little sense, and if you asked him why, he always told you a good reason. He never talked unless he had something to say, which, Billy mentally noted, was another point in which Uncle Will differed from most grown-ups.
He looked as if he had something to say now. Billie waited; and Uncle Will's slow, clear, musical voice began.
"To speak your own language, your mother-tongue, correctly, is a noble art; as noble as the art of the singer, or the painter, or the sculptor, or the great composer, and even more necessary than theirs, perhaps. We should be proud, then, to be able to speak English correctly."
"But we cannot speak our mother-tongue correctly unless we learn the laws or rules of the language, just as you cannot play baseball or tennis unless you understand the laws or rules of the game."
"The rules or laws of this noble, beautiful art of speaking and writing a language correctly are called the grammar of the language."
"If you go at it right, grammar is not a dead, dry subject. No; it is a living and most intensely interesting subject. Moreover, there is nothing, absolutely, that so trains and disciplines your mind as the study of grammar."
"Your mind will not grow unless it has exercise. You remember when you broke your arm and had it in splints for several weeks that when you began to use it again you found it very weak. You know that if you want strong muscles you must exercise them. It is just so with your mind. You must use it if you want it to grow strong. Otherwise when you grow up you will have a man's body, but a mind little better than a child's; and you will not be able to do the work in the world that God planned for you when He sent you here."
"Every lesson in grammar is an exercise for your mind, which will help it to grow and to become strong and to think straight."
"To be able to talk straight, you must be able to first think straight. And grammar gives your mind exercise in straight thinking, just as certain physical exercises in your gym work make your shoulders grow straight."
"It is said that a large part of the trouble in the world is caused by people who cannot think straight. Because they cannot think straight, they cannot talk straight. They may not mean to lie, but they tell things wrong because they did not get them straight in their minds. And so, without meaning to, perhaps, they make much trouble."
"The child who studies the laws of the English language will not grow up to be one of those irresponsible trouble-makers. He will be able to tell a thing straight, because his brain is trained to think straight; just as a carpenter is able to drive a nail straight, because he has trained his eye to see straight and his arm-muscles to act in accordance with what his eye and his brain tell them to do."
"The study of grammar, then, is a most excellent exercise for brain development. It is also a study which makes us masters of the great art of speaking and writing correctly."
"When you think over these facts, Billie, I think you will see that it is a study well worth your while and one from which you will really get great pleasure, if you go about it in the right way."
Billie heaved a deep sigh before he replied, slowly, "I never knew it was anything like that. It just seemed to me a lot of stuff the teacher made you learn; like 'what's an abstract noun?' What's a verb? How many parts of speech are there? Pick out the adjective phrases; and stuff like that. But if it's to exercise your brain and learn—no, 'teach' you to speak and write your own United

Columbia Record Hits

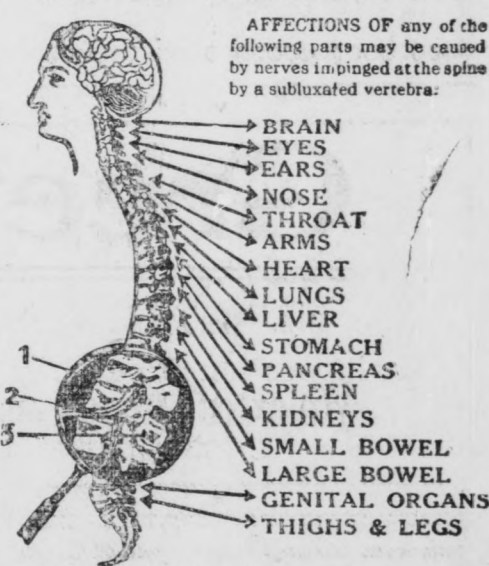

Rarely does stolid old New York grow very enthusiastic over a popular song. Yet the roof garden audiences almost raised the roof when they heard "Avalon" from "Sinbad." Al Jolson, the comedian of this comic opera, "Sinbad," sings this love ballad with its "Mandalay" flavor for Columbia Records. It will be released this month. On the other side of this record Henry Burr sings a tenor solo, "Old Pal, Why Don't You Answer Me?"
Nora Bayes this month sings one of the most interesting popular songs of the day, the new Japanese lullaby novelty, "The Japanese Sandman." The accompaniment is unique and the words unusually clever. Coupled with this Columbia record is "You're Just as Beautiful at Sixty as You Were at Sweet Sixteen," also sung by Nora Bayes.
Ted Lewis' Jazz band has injected a new jazz note into the fox trot that makes the music appealing. In "Fair One" and "Gypsy Moon" on Columbia Records, there's a jazzy melody that is unusual.

Easily Held Up

Residents of Salem used to tell gleefully about one of their fellow citizens who was returning late one night in a snowstorm along the old Ealem turnpike when he was suddenly confronted by a burly figure that appeared to extend one arm vigorously, as if to demand, "Your money or your life!" Mindful of the proverb concerning the better part of valor, continues Mr. Frederic J. Wood, who tells the incident in "The Turnpikes of New England," the traveler hastily tossed his watch and purse to the dimly seen figure and retreated. The next morning, with reinforcements, he returned to the scene of his discomfort, only to experience bitter mortification when his valuable property was found in the horse trough at the foot of the old-fashioned pump, which still held its ground with handle horizontal.

Health Is Possible!

Chi-ro-prac-tic takes off the brakes. Nerve pressure prevents the flow of vital force. Chi-ro-prac-tic takes away the cause—Nature then produces the desired effect. Whenever vital organs work badly or you have so-called trouble with your heart, lungs, bronchial tubes, stomach, liver, kidneys, intestines, bladder, uterus, etc., Chi-ro-prac-tic has shown that the spine or back-bone is almost invariably at fault. The proof lies in the thousands of cases successfully handled by Chi-ro-prac-tic.
The quickest and safest way to overcome so-called internal bodily disturbances of any kind is by Chi-ro-prac-tic spinal adjustment to the particular joints of the backbone, which by their displaced conditions interfere with the passage of the Creator's vital force through the nerves to the particular organ concerned.

LISTEN, MY DEAR

YOU MAY BE STYLISH AND STILL HAVE HIPS, SAYS "MAR-JORIE"

By "MARJORIE"

(Written for the United Press)
NEW YORK, November 12.—Fifth Avenue's showing of real midwinter dresses is playing some tricks on the straight-line chemise dress. A glimpse at the windows all bedecked with rich gowns for hurly-burly winter weather gives a strong hint that by springtide the dresses will be fuller and a wee bouffant.

It is the uptown houses which exploit "original models and imported creations" that are ringing the knell of the "string bean dress." They are following the example of Paris which has swung away from the straight-line dress for so long that it is about ready to swing back to it. America's swerve from a universally becoming type of dress will be more gradual, however. The couturiers are using all their cleverness to merely flick the gowns with some phase of the new trend.

Thus, one of the leading gown houses in America is showing a collection of rich duvetyns and velvets whose main deviation from the lines of the chemise dress is found in the irregular hem line which curves upward at the front of the gown. The hem continues into a wide contrasting facing. Thus, a model of cochon brown velvet continues its up-and-down hem line into a wide front banding of marigold colored broadened satin. This upward sweeping front line is found in many of the late winter models and gives promise of a directoire or Empire line before long, as a high waistline seems to blend best with this mounting hem.

Other houses are sponsoring a new silhouette by inserting umbrella folds at the sides. Rich metallic brocades or satins are combined in this way with the main fabric of velvet, duvetyn, or a heavy wool velour. This exploitation of the hips is very contrary to the prevailing straight-line mode. Other hints of a coming season's bouffantness are given by horizontal pin tucks at the hips or fan-shaped pleatings of contrasting lighter-weight fabrics.

Panels at the sides are also being used. This fad is especially noted in black-and-white costumes. One house is showing an importation of wide wale white serge or twill banded and paneled in black satin. Small pearl buttons outline the bandings and hip panels. Panels, by the way, are very chic when used as overtones. Another importing house is showing a street gown of midnight blue serge and black satin. The satin is used as a rather clinging underslip and the serge is the tunic. It is about knee length and is cut into deep points of uneven length. Some of the points are edged with tiny silk tassels that flop about most piquantly.

Midwinter frocks, however, are not forsaking all the fashion decrees of the earlier fall season. They are more chary of the tinsel and embroidery that frosted the gowns of yestermother, but they are exploiting the craze for insets of contrasting color and material.

That naive little pastime which a popular song epitomized some time ago, known as "looking through the knothole in father's wooden leg" had no view at all compared with that of the flip little rosettes, dabs of beads, and other gewgaws that are poked through a slash or eyelet in the bodice or skirt of a gown or the front of a blouse.

One house is showing a new model of seal colored duvetyn. If one had seen the fabric "in the piece" it would surely have been called damaged goods, for it is erratically covered with oddly shaped holes and slashes. As made, however, the openings come at the top of the skirt, over the shoulders, and at the middle-front of the bodice. These apertures are filled in with almond colored chamois skin.

Other dresses are full of large eyelets embroidered in colored silk and filled in with tiny dabs of gay ribbon or even tufts of fur. One house is showing a gown of black velvet prominently slashed. The slashes are underlaid by ermine paillettes.

INCREASE IN SHEEP

FREDERICTON, N. B., Nov. 12.—According to Premier Foster, the sheep of the province have increased from 140,000 in 1917 to 280,000 at the present time, or an increase of 100 per cent in three years.

All of the unsurveyed mangrove islands in the Caloosatchee River, Florida, have been designated as a new government bird reservation.

SIXTY THREE STORES IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

WHEN PRICE BOOSTING WILL FAIL

No matter how much one may sympathize with the growers of wheat in the United States, who are facing a real financial loss in marketing at present prices, the plan proposed for bringing wheat to $3 a bushel has every indication of failing, even before it is well started.

Wheat is a cereal that can be shipped to any part of the world at the minimum cost in freight charges. It is a product of the farm, which, in peace time, must conform to the supply and demand—that law which was suspended during the war by the combined action of the United States and the allied governments.

Two years after the ending of the world war, statistics show that production of wheat in countries affected by the war has been practically restored, and this restoration will reduce by at least one-half the import requirements of the nations across the ocean.

It is estimated that Canada has 160,000,000 bushels of wheat for export, while Argentina and Australia will provide a surplus of 250,000,000 bushels, while India will have upwards of 80,000,000 bushels more than its own requirements. France has raised enough grain to last until the next harvest.

Not only will the wheat growers of the United States be unable to compete in the world markets with growers in other countries at $3 a bushel, but Canada and other countries may be expected to enter the American market in competition with domestic grain. American producers run the risk of hurting themselves by withholding their products from the market.

The exigencies of the world war made it possible for this government and the allies to agree upon a minimum price for wheat, and the demand was such that this minimum was exceeded in the open market. Now that these conditions are being overcome, attempts to boost the price of a world product like wheat must result in failure.

SAN JOSE, Nov. 12.—Datto Lorenzo, arrested by the police here, claims the distinction of being a war veteran of the Italian army, a master violinist and a connoisseur of art.

He served through the war with the Italian forces and displays a citation to prove his honorable record.

As to his ability with the violin, he'll play it for you, maybe.

And as to his position as an art collector, he displayed to the police here what detectives declared was one of the choicest collections of police photographs they had seen recently. Incidentally, he was the subject of each.

Lorenzo told the officers that he was in the habit of getting a copy of each police picture taken of him and was "making a fine collection."

BERKELEY, Nov. 12.—California is producing 50,000,000 of English and Persian walnuts and 80 per cent of the total American production of figs, according to figures recently compiled by the University of California.

CAL. GOVERNOR LAUDS HEROES

MAKES A SPLENDID ARMISTICE DAY ADDRESS AT PORT-TERVILLE, CAL.

A SOLEMN OCCASION

OUR TASK TO SEE THAT WAR NO LONGER RENDS THE EARTH

Armistice Day is a day of deep and solemn meaning to the American people.

It is the day on which peace came to the war-worn nations of the earth—a day which marks a new era in the relations which nations shall bear to each other in the future.

I have officially declared Armistice Day a legal holiday, and all over California our people will assemble to pay reverent tribute to the heroes who gave their lives that institutions such as we here enjoy might be preserved, and whose graves dot the hill-sides of France.

"In Flanders fields the poppies blew
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place, and in the sky

The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below."

These heroes died not only that you and I might live and enjoy the blessings of government of our own choosing, but that there might forever be an end to all war. They died that generations coming after them might not be compelled to end not again rend the earth. How have we performed our task? How have we fulfilled our trust? Let us take thought of these things.

On the 11th of November, 1918, there was fired the last shot in the greatest war which the world has ever known—the like of which, we sincerely pray, may never again be experienced by the children of men.

Although engaged in actual hostilities for less than two years America's contribution in men and money was enormous and decisive. More than four million men rallied to the colors, and more than half of these were transported to Europe and engaged in the horrors which they had known.

These American heroes made the supreme sacrifice. They did their whole duty. But they left a task for us to perform. Its performance is for our self-interest. Our task is to see to it that wars such as this shall in the fiercest fighting of the war. They constituted the flower of our young manhood. Their valor and prowess is written in imperishable glory along the banks of the Marne, in the forest of Argonne, at Chateau-Thierry, and in the dash to Verdun.

The historian of the future will accord to America full meed of praise for the part which she played in this titanic conflict. Not only will be told the glorious story of the bravery and the prowess of America's sons on the far-flung battle-front in France, of the horrors of that living hell which they faced with unflinching courage, of their spirit and ardor which made them more than a match for the best trained troops of Europe, of their irresistible dash which literally swept the enemy before them, but history also will do full justice to the noble purpose and the high resolve which impelled America to enter into the conflict.

It was not for selfish ends that America took up arms. America always has had her "place in the sun," and so long as she remains steadfast to her ideals always will have. America did not covet the lands that belong to other peoples. She did not seek by force of arms to exalt her glory as a military nation. She had no lust for power, or place, or pomp. She did not seek commercial advantage. An ample market for all her wares and produce was provided at home and abroad, by the war, and with the lessening or cessation of production in the other chief manufacturing and commercial countries, the whole world had turned to America for supplies. Our financial interests would have best been served by staying out rather than entering the war.

But we did not think of ourselves alone. Our financial advantage, our commercial expansion and our personal comfort were not matters of first or of deepest concern. The world was aflame and the ideals which constitute the very foundation of our civilization were menaced with destruction.

It was given to America to decide whether the world should be governed by principles of right and justice, and fair dealing between organized and orderly governments responsible to the will of the people who created them, or whether the world should be ruled by irresponsible political organizations founded upon force and ignoring all morals and all laws save that of gross and material self-interest. America was called upon to decide between right and wrong. In this, as ever in the past, and as ever in the future, she declared for the right.

In the great war America fought for the preservation of the hopes and the ideals which have been entertained by men in all ages, and which alone, through their realization, can make this world a fit place for human habitation.

America poured out her blood and her treasure that the nations of the world in their relations with others might be governed by the same laws of equity and of justice that govern the relations of men with each other.

Fifty thousand graves in France are filled with American boys who willingly gave their lives to put an end to war. They died that future generations might not be subject to the horrors and miseries which came to them. Willingly they sacrificed themselves, that founded upon the blood-bought victory, there might be established a permanent and enduring peace under which all the nations of the earth in perfect accord and good understanding one with another would be free to work out their destiny and develop their institutions so as best to serve the welfare and happiness of their own people without impinging upon the rights of other peoples.

Two hundred and twenty thousand American boys who were wounded or who were taken prisoners drank to the very dregs from the cup of misery brewed by this needless strife. They have passed through the fire. They know what war is and what it does to men. Their maimed bodies and broken spirits in anguish cry out to all the nations of the earth to safeguard and defend the world against the repetition of such horrors.

The men who filled the trenches in Europe and passed through the living hell of conflict, together with all those others who on land or sea or in air contributed their bit to the winning of victory and ending the struggle, know what war is and fervently pray that it never again may be known on earth.

But I sometimes wonder if the rest of us realize fully just what this war meant to us and to the other nations of the earth. Do you realize that the mobilized forces of all the nations engaged on both sides of the world-war aggregated more than 59,000,000 men? And do you know that for every thirty human beings in the world—men, women and children—one man was taken away from industry and thrust into the war? Do you realize that the number of men killed on both sides during the great war according to the most authentic information was 7,668,320 men, more than twice the total population—men, women and children—in California? And do you recall that this number about equals the combined population of all the states west of the Rocky mountains?

Do you realize that the total number on both sides who were wounded was more than 13½ million men, and that 7 million more were accounted as prisoners or missing? If to these are added the number killed, there is a grand total of killed, wounded, prisoners and missing of more than 33 million men, or a figure equal approximately to one-third the total population of the United States?

Do you realize what it meant in loss of production, directly affecting not only the comfort but the very existence of millions of human beings, to withdraw from useful pursuits nearly 60,000,000 men best fitted to serve in industrial pursuits and set them at the task of destroying each other? Statisticians have computed

Every day evidence appears that the American male is physically more powerful than his ancestors. The burglars who entered an apartment on Central Park West carried off not merely the little valuables, but also a safe weighing 400 pounds. Two thieves who operated in a restaurant in business hours abandoned the old school method of snatching the money from the till and took the cash register intact. Not a week passes but some warehouse reports the theft of a dozen barrels of whiskey, each of which weighs at least 350 pounds. School playgrounds, the baseball fields and the gymnasiums seem to have done wonders for the biceps of our youth in certain lines. But why is it, when an effort is made to divert some of this magnificent strength to commonplace work, that an apparent disintegration of muscle ensues?—New York Sun.

Industrial Fatigue

An investigation of the subject of industrial fatigue conducted in the government shops by the English government resulted in obtaining a great deal of valuable information. It has been the means in many cases of a great increase of the output, and these investigations are about to be extended generally to all British industrial establishments by a recently established industrial fatigue research board, under the department of scientific and industrial research and the medical research committee. The duties of the board will be to initiate, organize and promote investigations in different industries with the view of finding the most favorable hours of labor, spells of work, rest pauses, and the like.

LAUDS HEROES

that the direct loss to the world in production alone, due to the withdrawal from industry of men of fighting age, during this last war amounted to the tremendous total of more than $45,000,000,000.

Have you kept in mind the fact that the direct cost of the great war, reflecting only the expenditure of the governments engaged on both sides of that struggle amounted to the staggering total of $186,333,637,097? When to this almost inconceivable sum is added the stupendous loss of production, the value of the property destroyed and the capitalized value of human life, it has been computed that the direct and indirect cost of the war which ended with the declaration of an armistice on the 11th day of November, 1918, amounted to the amazing total of 337 billion dollars. This is a sum so vast as to challenge comprehension and can be understood only by comparison.

In 1917 just before the United States entered the war the total wealth of this nation was estimated at 220 billion dollars, a sum only a little in excess of two-thirds of the cost of the world war. In the same year, 1917, the national wealth of the British Empire, including the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India and Ceylon, the Crown colonies and protectorates, including Egypt, was estimated officially by a Crown Minister of the Empire at 130 billion dollars. So that if the two figures representing the national wealth of the two wealthiest nations in the world be added together you will have a combined total of 350 billion dollars, only 13 billion in excess of the estimated direct and indirect costs of the great war.

Is it strange that when more than 7½ million human beings have been sent to untimely graves by this monstrous war, when more than 18 million other human beings have been injured during the progress of a war which also has left its mark not only on the combatant forces but upon every human being in the whole world, and has piled up a mountain of debt which must be borne in misery and in hardship by generations yet unborn—I say, is it strange that every intelligent human being throughout the world's broad expanse should be weary of war and look forward hopefully to the day when wars shall be no more? The dream of that blissful day when "swords shall be beaten into plowshares, and spears into pruning hooks," when permanent and enduring peace shall rule throughout the earth, must be realized.

If we are to assume merely that man is a rational and intelligent animal, then for his own protection and in order that he may live upon this earth under conditions that make life even tolerable—that he may even in a measurable degree enjoy the fruits of his own labor—then he must, merely as a matter of self-preservation, devise some means of putting an end to war.

Men may differ upon the means to be employed to accomplish the ending of all war. None other than an enemy of all mankind will dispute the necessity for providing every possible safeguard against the recurrence of war. Doubtless there may be those who have not sufficient faith in human intelligence and in human capacity to so organize human society as to remove the incentive to war. But these to whom has been given but little faith in man's ability to work out his own destiny in his upward march to the mountain peaks of human aspiration, have their vision obscured by the fogs of selfishness and greed, and lust and pride and pretense and all the other evil passions that ever have beset the pathway of poor, struggling humanity, and cannot see the star of hope that guides the way.

There is a will greater than our own, a power that will direct and lead us in the right path, which will sustain us and save us from the results of our own blindness and our own folly. So long as we resolutely set our feet in the right path and with singleness of purpose strive to make the way easier for those who are to follow after us we may have the comforting assurance that humanity will press on and ever upward and that the goal at last may be reached.

We must keep America safe and secure from absorption by those whom we cannot assimilate. The overwhelming vote against Asiatic ownership or leasing of lands is a definite expression of the people of California. We must educate the nation. All of us have work to do. No other body of citizens can work more effectively than the American Legion and I am delighted to have its entire membership work with me

Ears Better Than Eyes

Nobody who has followed with care the utilization of electricity as an aid in navigation could have been surprised by the achievement of the Semmes in coming up the harbor recently, under the guidance, not of her commander's eyes, but of his ears.

The possibility of doing this whenever an electrified cable can be laid has been known and proved abroad, since not long after the war began, and the employment of an apparatus in essentials like the one that brought the Semmes safely up the Ambrose channel to the narrows was one of the few original ideas of the Germans. It served them well in getting their submarines through the mines laid in front of their home ports. The British soon learned of the device and bettered it, and now our navy, after the true departmental manner, is "experimenting" with something the practicability of which was long since demonstrated.

There is no reason why all our ports should not be equipped with one of these guiding cables, or why mercantile steamers should not install the instruments required for getting such assistance when needed.

In fogs here, the steamers would be saved expensive delay such as was experienced by many of them last week, but there are other harbors, less easy to find in the dark and with more dangerous entrances, where such assistance not infrequently would mean the difference between safety and destruction.—New York Times.

towards excluding from America all undesirable, unassimilable peoples.

America must also be preserved from those who would destroy it. All those who preach destruction of government should be locked up in America or locked out of America.

Our beloved country in these reconstruction days needs the help of every American Legion member—I know you will give it freely, wisely and unstintingly. America is a grateful land and will rejoice in assisting her heroic sons in every up-building plan for their benefit.

Remembering the horrors through which we have just passed and having in mind the duty which now is upon us to do all that lies within our power to prevent a recurrence of these horrors, I am reminded of the lines in Kipling's "Recessional," with which I shall close:

God of our fathers known of old—
Lord of our farflung battle line—
Beneath whose awful hand we hold Dominion over palm and pine—
Lord God of Hosts be with us yet,
Lest we forget, lest we forget.

The tumult and the shouting dies,
The Captains and the Kings depart;
Still stands thine ancient sacrifice,
An humble and a contrite heart.
Lord God of Hosts be with us yet,
Lest we forget, lest we forget.

Far-called our navies melt away—
On dune and headland sinks the fire—
Lo, all our pomp of yesterday
Is one with Nineveh and Tyre!
Judge of the nations, spare us yet,
Lest we forget, lest we forget.

"Only the low type of soul would make itself manifest on the ouija

given the subject much research. "A high type of spirit would not use such a crude and dangerous method.
Why should a highly evolved spirit

when they are on a much higher plane."

"Speaking in the slangy language of the earth, most of the spirits we get connected with on the ouija board lie like circus posters.

"If you are looking for advice, it is far better to take it from a good living person than a bad dead one.
No spirit can tell the future better than an ordinary earth-being. It's rare that a respectable spirit raps on the library table, either."

Miss Wilson holds that there are just a few cases on record of high-class spirits talking via the ouija board route, but these cases are so rare that they may be discounted.

Eating for Health

The dietetic regimen is one of the chief features of the Glendale Sanitarium program of health building. The diet system in use here is the result of almost half a century of thoroughgoing scientific research. It is not based on fads, guesswork or unproved theories.
The right diet is not alone prescribed but is provided in the exact quantity and variety needed.

The patient comes to understand that right eating is an essential factor in winning back health. But he does not miss the things that are banned because there are so many other things to take their places. Dieting is made a delight here.

Various diets are prescribed under the supervision of skilled physicians. And other things are necessary in connection with a diet, such as hydrotherapy, massage, rest, freedom from care and excitement.

Women Appreciate Bentley's Building Service

A large part of a woman's interest is in her home. That's one reason why she should have a home of her own but not the only reason.

The average American family must consider finances when any move is contemplated and from this standpoint alone every family must own a home. It's good business in the long run.

It's far better policy to be making payments on a home—to be getting something for your money—than to be charging the monthly check to expense, as rent.

"Prices are too high to build now" is an oft-heard statement. After all prices are relative and building costs are not as high as rents.

The amount of building that is being done in Glendale now is proof that many people of business judgment consider it good business to build.

Bentley's Building Service is planned to help the builder. Talk it over with us and learn the extent of the service we can render you if you are going to build.

The Lost Children's Battalion

Over two years ago, 782 children—probably more than are in your entire Sunday School—were shipped from Petrograd into Siberia when the food ran short.

Then your Red Cross stepped in, helped feed and clothe them, doctored them, mothered them (some of the little cherubs were mere babies) and has kept them safe and sound.

Russian revolution made it impossible to take them back the way they came. So the Red Cross set out on a 25,000 mile journey to take them home by way of Japan, through the Panama Canal to New York and then to France. The New York Tribune, in an editorial Aug. 25, 1920 says: "In the face of difficulties almost insuperable the American Red Cross has kept them safe and sound."

It is estimated that there are in Europe more than ten million fatherless children—little homeless wanderers—who must continue to look to your Red Cross for help.

Your Red Cross membership makes it possible to carry on such work. Join the Red Cross or renew your membership during the
